NAVAL CONFERENCE ENDS IN FAILURE

MAN SLAUGHTER IS CORONER'S JURY VERDICT

Jean Coddington Case Aired in Detail at Inquest To-day

Sunday Night Automobile Tragedy Related by Driver

A verdict of manslaughter against W. Fraser Tolmie was brought in by the coroner's jury investigating the death of Miss Jean Coddington to-day. Miss Coddington was a passenger in the automobile driven by Mr. Tolmie on the morning of July 25 when the machine crashed against a telephone pole on Rockland Avenue. She never regained consciousness and died the following day. Mr. Tolmie was charged with manslaughter in the City Police Court on his release from hospital on Tuesday, and remanded until August 5.

At a few minutes before noon to-day the inquest jury first retired to consider its verdict and within fifteen minutes reported back with a finding that W. Fraser Tolmie was responsible for Miss Coddington's death. Informed by the coroner that this was not a satisfactory finding, the jury again retired and returned at 12:35 p.m. with a verdict of manslaughter.

A. C. Burdick, who resides near the scene of the accident, and who was first on the scene, testified that he heard a crash and immediately went to investigate. He found the wrecked car with Tolmie sprawled in the road. Mr. Burdick heard the deep breathing of Miss Coddington from the wreckage in the rear of the machine, he said. He saw nothing of Archibald Lang when he arrived at the wreck, witness said. He had assisted in tending for the injured.

DOCTOR TESTIFIES

Dr. John Moore, who was called on Monday, July 25, at about 4 o'clock in the morning to attend the injured girl, described her condition when he examined her. He stated, when called as the second witness, that the young woman had died as a result of shock and injuries to the brain.

At the conclusion of Dr. Moore's evidence, Oscar Bass, counsel for Mr. Tolmie, rose to suggest that his client's statement be heard. Mr. Tolmie, he said, was still weak and under stress.

William Fraser Tolmie was called. "As I understand it, Mr. Tolmie, you have been called and charged in another court, a practice I call both bad and unnecessary," said Coroner Dr. Hart, before Mr. Tolmie took his seat and commenced his story.

ALL GO DRIVING

At about 9:30 on Sunday evening he was at Miss Dorothy Officer's house. Mr. Tolmie said. She had asked him to drive to Miss Coddington's home and he had complied. They talked (Continued on page 2)

PLAN NEW BRIDGES ON P.G.E. SYSTEM

Steel Spans to be Utilized; Replacement Programme Makes Rapid Progress

Directors Plan to Spend Vote Over Considerable Period

Substantial progress in the work of putting the Pacific Great Eastern Railway into first-class physical condition was reported at a meeting of the directors of the line yesterday. Contracts awarded by the directors recently cover a large part of the replacement programme which is being conducted this summer out of an appropriation of $750,000 voted by the Legislature.

The policy of the directors, as indicated after the meeting, is to proceed with this work carefully rather than hurrying it. Only work which is urgently required will be done this year and the cost will be spread over a considerable period. Probably about half of the $750,000 will be spent this summer, the remaining work being done later.

TO USE BRIDGE

Parts of the big Cottonwood bridge which was fabricated by the Canadian Bridge Company in Walkerville, Ontario, some years ago, and had been lying unused since then, will be installed at points along the line to replace worn-out wooden structures, the railway directors decided. As construction of the new bridge across the Cottonwood River is not proceeding the bridge is not needed in the location for which it was originally designed. Some day when this extension is undertaken the whole structure will be required, but meanwhile the directors have decided that spans suitable for the purpose should be installed along the southern sections of the line.

Various proposals for the purchase of the railway have been before the directors during the last few weeks, but none have yet come to a head.

PLANS AEROPLANE TRIP AROUND WORLD

William Brock, whose picture appears above, hopes soon to start in an aeroplane from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, with E. F. Schlee of Detroit on an attempt to fly around the world and lower the existing record, which is twenty-eight days.

TORIES TALK AND GOVERNMENT ACTS, PATTULLO ASSERTS

Administration Stands on Solid Rock of Decade of Accomplishment

While the Liberal Government has been building up British Columbia's prosperity on the solid basis of accomplishment, Conservative Party leaders are talking about greater development without a single suggestion as to how this may be achieved, Hon. T. F. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, declared in a spirited address before Saanich Liberals at their Beaver Lake picnic yesterday.

He challenged Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Conservative leader, to advance some plan for industrial progress which the present Government had not already put into effect with beneficial results.

TRIBUTE TO PREMIER

"We are all sorry that we have not with us to-day our great leader, the Honorable John Oliver," Mr. Pattullo said. "We exceedingly regret his illness, and we are sincerely hoping and praying that he may recover his former health. His great brain, his great courage and his great energy have been in the service of this Province for a generation, and during the past ten years of the war period and the post-war period, he has been leader of the Government of British Columbia. All the people of British Columbia greatly honor him."

"I am pleased to join the Liberals of Saanich in their annual outing. These occasions afford opportunity not only for the contact of personal friendship, but for the cultivation of mutual understanding."

"It is well that in all parts of the country the banner of Liberalism should be kept flying, not as a challenge to those who may not ally themselves with us, but as a signal to all people that within its folds lie liberty, equality and fraternity. We must not forget, nor allow anyone else to forget, that Liberalism is not mere partyism. Liberalism gradually evolved until it is not only the bulwark against oppression and special privilege, but is a vitalizing force in constructive development."

FOR MASSES

"Liberalism is essentially a principle for the guidance of the masses of the people. It knows no race or creed. There is room for every opinion and every class. It is fundamentally based upon the welfare of all the people. Those who care to definitely ally themselves with the Liberal party may do so with pride. The traditions, aims and aspirations of Liberalism have always been uplifting."

"In the fight to maintain its principles, Liberalism must be militant. It must be ever on the alert. Forces are constantly at work to vitiate its principles. It is a matter of great gratification that the Liberal party of Canada has lived true to its traditions and principles of Liberalism."

A BOLD GOVERNMENT

"In this Province of British Columbia we have a Liberal Government. I am so bold as to say that no country, province or state has ever had a Government that has striven more earnestly, both by its policies and administration, to conduct the public business to the greatest possible benefit to the people, both individually and collectively; and I venture the opinion (Continued on page 2)

NEW YORK BUILDINGS GUARDED FOLLOWING VANZETTI RULING

Death Sentence of Two Men Confirmed; Precautions Against Bomb Attacks

Additional Guards at Office of Secretary of State Kellogg in Washington

New York, Aug. 4.—Some of the larger buildings of New York were being guarded to-day as a result of the ruling of Governor Fuller of Massachusetts that the Sacco and Vanzetti death sentence must be carried out.

Washington, Aug. 4.—A special guard has been detailed to patrol the corridor outside the office of Secretary of State Kellogg following Governor Fuller's decision in the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

The State Department has informed all United States embassies, legations and consuls abroad that a final decision has been rendered by the Governor, so they may take precautions against possible anti-American acts.

DISPLAY NO EMOTION
Sacco and Vanzetti showed no outward sign of dismay when they were informed this morning of Governor Alvan T. Fuller's decision not to interfere in their case.

The reprieve recently granted them will expire August 10.

Rio Janeiro, Aug. 4.—A protest "in the name of the city of Rio de Janeiro and American culture and civilization" against the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti has been unanimously adopted by the municipal council.

GREAT CONFERENCE OF CHURCHES HELD

In Lausanne Delegates of Ninety Denominations Discuss Union Plans

Lausanne, Switzerland, Aug. 4.—What many believe to be one of the most important religious gatherings in modern times, designed to promote union among all Christian churches, is in progress in Lausanne. It is the Conference on Faith and Order. Nearly 500 delegates of more than ninety churches, established and non-conformist, are in attendance. The Roman Catholic Church is not represented.

The conference was opened yesterday. Its programme, which was in preparation for seventeen years, covers nineteen days.

UNION DISCUSSION

The leaders of the conference hope to show the differences among the non-Catholic churches are so trivial that the delegates ought to come together and have the congress, before adjournment, adopt a resolution in favor of union, which could in turn be referred to the governing bodies of the various denominations for approval.

THORNTON REGAINS HIS HEALTH FULLY

"Bad Strokes" Occurred Only on Fourteenth Green at Jasper Park

Jasper, Aug. 4.—The report which has been circulated that Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, is in bad health and that his condition is causing his friends alarm is incorrect. Three weeks ago Sir Henry suffered an attack of intestinal flu, but he has entirely recovered and was never in better physical condition than at present.

Seen this morning in connection with the report, which also stated he had suffered a stroke, Sir Henry said: "Yes, it is quite true I had a bad stroke yesterday. In fact, I had four strokes in quick succession. They occurred near the fourteenth green on the golf course. The first bad stroke was one of the worst I ever suffered; got me into the bunker and I had three more bad strokes before I got out."

"Thanks to the recuperative qualities of Jasper I hope not only to improve my health, but my golf as well, and to be able shortly to do the course in part. I strongly recommend Jasper to those who desire to improve their health and their golf."

Sir Henry and the executives who are accompanying him on his inspection trip over the lines of the C.N.R. in Western Canada left this afternoon for Prince Rupert.

JOHN DILLON DIED TO-DAY IN LONDON

Was Seventy-six; Succeeded Redmond as Irish Nationalist Party Leader

London, Aug. 4.—John Dillon, famous Irish leader, died late to-day at a London nursing home, following a severe abdominal operation.

John Dillon, who succeeded John Redmond as chairman of the Irish Nationalist Party in 1918, was for more than thirty years one of the outstanding figures in the fight for Irish Home Rule. Almost from the day he entered Parliament from Tipperary in 1880, at the age of twenty-nine years, he was conspicuous in Irish politics, beginning his career as a supporter of Charles Stewart Parnell, coadjutor with Gladstone in starting the fight for Home Rule.

Long an understudy of Redmond, there were many who maintained Dillon dictated the policies of his chief and shaped the Nationalist Party's course for years before taking over the leadership in name as well as in fact.

Manufacturer Says Secretary Entitled to U.S. Republican Presidential Nomination

Detroit, Aug. 4.—Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, was endorsed as the logical candidate for the Republican presidential nomination to succeed Calvin Coolidge in a statement here to-day by Henry Ford.

BODIES TAKEN FROM COAL MINE

TWO FACE MURDER CHARGE

350 MEN FIGHTING FOREST FIRE NEAR PORT ALBERNI

Vancouver, Aug. 4.—In spite of an all-night fight, 350 men were unable to prevent the spread of a large fire on the logging operations of the Alberni Pacific Lumber Company. It was reported here this afternoon.

Fanned by a westerly wind, the blaze has swept over 1,000 acres of block 80, four miles from the town of Port Alberni.

U.S. GOVERNMENT BUYS POULTRY OF ISLAND BREEDERS

Vancouver Island poultry won a marked triumph at the World's Poultry Congress in Ottawa to-day when the United States Government purchased four Rhode Island Red pullets exhibited by H. Reid of Victoria, and H. Cooke of Saanich. The birds will be taken immediately to the United States to improve strains south of the boundary. As the United States authorities purchased at the Congress only birds of the highest quality, judged superior to any in their own territory, the selection of the Saanich poultry was an unparalleled tribute to the value of island breeds. Announcement of the purchase was made in telegraphic advice received here to-day from J. R. Terry, Chief Poultry Inspector of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, who is in charge of the Province's display in Ottawa.

OTTAWA DENIAL IS READ TO ROTARIANS

Government Is Not Bound to Take Over Elevator if Failure Results, Says Mayor

Speaking to the Rotary Club at the noon luncheon to-day Mayor J. C. Pendray fired his last round in the by-law campaign, opposing the issue at the polls to-day. He said, in part, "Last week one of the aldermen addressed our Rotary Club. Among some of the statements made was the fact that if the Panama Pacific Elevator was for any reason a failure, according to the lease, the Dominion Government would take it over at a price to be agreed on. Failing that agreement the exchequer court would then settle the price. I have since taken this matter up with the city council and also with the department at Ottawa, and have received a wire advising that in the event of the failure they will not take over the elevator."

"Following is the telegram from A. Johnston, Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa:

"With further reference to your telegram, August 1, in the matter of the lease of Panama Pacific Grain Terminals Limited, the department desires that it be plainly understood that in the event of the company failing to successfully carry on the enterprise it is not proposed that the Dominion Government shall take over the elevator or compensate the company for any expenditures undertaken. The only condition upon which compensation to the company will be considered will be the event that it should become desirable in the public interests to cancel the lease or to refuse to renew it on the expiration of the term for which it is made."

"I know that the citizens are desirous of assisting any reasonable grain elevator proposition in our city, but I feel it is my duty, even at this late time, to tell you the proposition that we are now considering is not in the best interest of the city, and we are making a very poor business bargain if we pass this by-law to-day."

"Briefly, my reasons are: The management have had no experience in terminal grain elevator business. This (Continued on page 2)

B.C. - AUSTRALIA FLIGHT PLANNED

Maj. C. O. Osborne to Make Attempt; Not in Race to Honolulu

San Francisco, B.C., Aug. 4.—Major Curzon O. Osborne of Vancouver, B.C., will not enter the $35,000 James D. Dole race from the Mainland to Honolulu, according to a letter received here to-day from Secretary Leonard Miller of the Air Force Club of British Columbia.

Unforeseen delays in preparing his plans would prevent its being ready by August 12, when the race is to open, Miller said.

The major is carrying out his plan to hop off from Vancouver at the earliest possible moment, to fly to Honolulu and thence to Australia by stages.

20 MEN FIGHTING FOREST FIRE NEAR PORT ALBERNI

TIMES TO FLASH BY-LAW RETURNS

Six Hundred Voters Turned Out This Morning During Slack Period

Final Returns Should be Known About 9 p.m. From Polls

The Times will flash bulletin returns from the city polls this evening, as soon as reliable figures can be obtained in the vote on the grain elevator issue. The polls close at 8 o'clock.

Some 600 persons cast their vote this morning, according to an estimation by M. F. Hunter, Returning Officer for the election, and these will be followed by the heavier proportion of the vote this afternoon and to-night.

Closing shots in the campaign waged over the issue included radio talks by C. F. W. Schweeneger and William Maynard last night, and an address by Mayor Pendray to the Rotary Club to-day, taking opposite sides of the issue. The count to-night will be fast once it starts, but before the actual count will come the segregation of the ballots into "Yes" and "No." This will prevent progress returns from the polls, and give the final results about as soon as the first figures on the issue.

AT OTTAWA PRINCES SPEND DAY AT GOLF

Premier and Mrs. Baldwin Are Luncheon Guests of Premier King

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Two royal golfers had the Ottawa Golf Club virtually to themselves this morning. The Prince of Wales and Prince George, paired respectively with A. F. Lascelles and Admiral Halsey, teed off shortly before noon in ideal golfing weather.

The Prince of Wales wore grey flannel slacks, a white sweater and grey shirt open at the neck. Puffing a pipe and after pulling a battered Panama hat from his bag of clubs, His Royal Highness warmed up with a few practice swings and then drove his ball 180 yards down the fairway. His second shot with an iron almost reached the green.

Prince George, who wore grey flannel slacks and a grey sweater, drove his ball to the hole in one shot. He recovered well on his second shot. Admiral Halsey, his partner, topped his drive.

NO PHOTOS TAKEN

No cameramen were present, and the only witnesses to the start of the game were a few club members who watched from the clubhouse.

The Prince will probably lunch at one of the nearby clubs, and in the afternoon the Princes with their staffs will take on Viscount Willingdon's staff from Government House in a friendly match over the Royal Ottawa Golf Club course.

NO PUBLIC ASSEMBLIES

The Princes and Premier Baldwin this morning faced a day of freedom from public functions, their first day of rest from intense programmes since their arrival at Quebec last Saturday.

The royal visitors plan to make a number of private calls to-day. In the evening they will be dinner guests of Premier King at Laurier House.

Their apparent and Prince George will afterward proceed to the Ottawa Country Club, where they will attend a reception and dance to be given in their honor by members of the club. According to tentative plans, the Princes will go direct from the Country Club to their train, which will be placed on a siding until they depart for Brockville, Ontario, to-morrow morning.

LUNCHEON GUESTS

Premier Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin have two engagements only for the day. At 1:15 this afternoon they will be the luncheon guests of Premier King at Laurier House. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin will dine at the home of Sir Robert and Lady Borden.

TWENTY-FIVE DROWN AS BRIDGE FALLS OVER MEXICAN RIVER

Mexico City, Aug. 4.—Twenty-five persons gathered on a bridge to watch the swollen waters of the Contepce River after a cloudburst near San Miguel, were drowned as the bridge collapsed yesterday, say special dispatches from Zitacuaro, state of Michoacan. The bodies were carried off by the rushing waters and efforts by scores of men to recover them were fruitless.

FURTHER EFFORTS FOR NAVAL PACT

Secretary Kellogg Hopes Powers Will Find Geneva Discussion Helpful

Washington, Aug. 4.—Hope of the Washington Government that the efforts for further naval limitation which failed to-day at Geneva can be resumed at an early date was indicated in a formal statement issued to-day by Secretary of State Kellogg.

"I do not consider the failure to make an agreement now as final," Mr. Kellogg said. "I am confident the work done at Geneva will make it possible after consultation between the Governments to find a basis for reconciling the divergent views and lead to the early conclusion of an agreement for the limitation of auxiliary naval vessels."

FRIENDLY RELATIONS

Although the Secretary pointed out in his statement that the British proposals constituted an enhanced cruiser building programme which the United States regarded as "neither necessary nor wise," and to which the Washington Government could not "afford to give its moral approval," he added: "I am certain the failure at this time to enter into an agreement will not impair the cordial relations existing between the British Government and the United States."

Baldwin Declines To Comment on Geneva Failure

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Premier Stanley Baldwin declined to-day to comment on dispatches from Geneva indicating the breakdown of the Three-Power Naval Conference.

It is understood, however, that Mr. Baldwin has not been in close enough touch with the situation during the past few days to issue a statement and that comment, if any, by the British Government, would have to come from London.

Mr. Baldwin was in receipt of cables notifying him of the conference situation.

KING HERE FRIDAY FOR CONFERENCES

Sutherland and Federal Minister to Confer on New Mountain Road Survey

Hon. J. H. King, British Columbia representative in the Mackenzie King Cabinet, will arrive in Victoria to-morrow morning to go into conference with Hon. J. D. MacLean, Acting Provincial Premier and other members of the Government on departmental questions. He is expected to remain in the city several days on business connected with his Departments of Health and Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment.

One of the most important matters to be taken up by Dr. King during his visit will be plans for the proposed construction of a road from Golden to Revelstoke to create the last link in a highway route direct from the Coast to the prairies.

After a preliminary talk with Dr. King in Vancouver yesterday Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, indicated to-day that he expected his conference with the Federal Minister to-morrow would arrange plans for surveying the route of the proposed road. The Federal and Provincial Governments are both interested in the project.

RUSSIAN CREW OF ELEVEN DROWNED

Archangel, Russia, Aug. 4.—Eleven men, the entire crew of the Russian steamship Sierren, were drowned when the vessel, laden with lumber, was wrecked in the White Sea near the mouth of the Dwina River.

Geneva, Aug. 4.—The Three-Power Naval Conference here came to an unsuccessful end to-day. After nearly seven weeks of discussion the delegates of Great Britain, the United States and Japan found themselves unable to reach an agreement on the limitation of cruisers, destroyers and submarines, which was the object of the conference.

The end came after Hugh S. Gibson, chief of the United States delegation, had made the final address of the session. The conference, adopting a joint declaration, adjourned the conference sine die.

A last-moment effort was made by Great Britain to-day to rescue something from the wreckage, when Rt. Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, chief British delegate, proposed an agreement restricted to destroyers and submarines.

The head of the United States delegation declined to entertain this suggestion, which was presented at a secret session of the delegates held at noon, on the ground that the United States considered the limitation of cruisers, destroyers and submarines as one indivisible.

The adjournment of the conference came after a vote of thanks had been adopted for Mr. Gibson, the motion being made by Mr. Bridgeman and seconded by Admiral Ishih of Japan.

The last act of the conference was the adoption of the joint motion of adjournment with the declaration that the Governments of the three powers represented should endeavor to find a basis for reconciling the divergent views and lead to the early conclusion of an agreement for the limitation of auxiliary naval vessels.

In this joint declaration the conference also registered its conviction that the obstacles encountered at Geneva should not be accepted as terminating efforts to bring about future limitation of naval armaments.

MUTUAL CONFIDENCE

The declaration says: "On the contrary, the delegates trust that the measure of agreement which has been reached here will make it possible for consultations between the Governments to find a basis for reconciling the divergent views and lead to the early conclusion of an agreement for the limitation of auxiliary naval vessels. It will permit of substantial economy and will safeguarding national security, will promote a feeling of mutual confidence and good understanding."

EIGHT-INCH GUN CRUISERS

Geneva, Aug. 4.—The underlying cause of the decision to adjourn the Three-Power Naval Conference is believed to have been the difficulty over reaching an agreement on eight-inch gun cruisers.

The British wanted the United States to specify in the projected treaty how many cruisers capable of carrying eight-inch guns that nation contemplated building in addition to the 10,000-ton cruisers, which also carry eight-inch guns. This the Americans steadily declined to do, insisting they must have complete liberty of action as to types of cruisers within the limits of the total tonnage allotted to them by the treaty.

OFFENSIVE SHIPS

Great Britain contended eight-inch gun cruisers were all "offensive" warships and that she must know in advance the number the United States was going to build so she could construct likewise. Her delegates added that too many large sized cruisers would of necessity increase the British total tonnage needs. They pointed out that her national requirements, including the protection of trade and food routes, obliged her to maintain a cruiser strength of seventy.

Samuel Hill to Spend "Good Will" Money in B.C. and Washington

Vancouver, Aug. 4.—The expenditure of more than $1,000,000 in the promotion of good roads in British Columbia and the State of Washington is the plan of Samuel Hill, United States millionaire. Mr. Hill passed through Vancouver to-day en route to Victoria.

He was accompanied by J. H. Finlay, former western land agent of the Northern Pacific Railroad. Mr. Hill declared he would use his own money to promote the "good will" road programme.

tion, also, that no Government has succeeded in greater degree in carrying out its aims and aspirations than has the present Provincial Government. We are leading all the province of Canada in the matter of our social legislation—looking to the happiness, comfort and well-being of all our people—while in the development of our resources we are in the very forefront. During the last ten years every field of activity, whether it be timber, agriculture, mining, fishing or manufacturing, has doubled, trebled and quadrupled.

CONSERVATIVE PROPAGANDA

"I notice that our friends, the Conservatives, use occasions of this kind to criticize the Liberal Government. They are loud in their lamentations as to the condition of affairs, and are almost pitiful in their attempts to lead the people to believe that all that is necessary to wait this Province into a wonderful and greater affluence is to put into office some of the hungry office-seekers who are bemoaning their present fate."

I would like to point out that the Honorable Doctor was a member of the Borden-McLellan administration, which was in office for ten years in Canada, during which time 750,000 Canadians left for the United States. 'What is the wonderful panacea that the doctor has in store to cure all the ills of the body politic? Why did he not apply the remedy when he had the opportunity, and keep the 750,000 Can-

S. F. Tolmie, Conservative Party leader, that he would appoint experts to investigate industrial possibilities if he were returned to power. Mr. Whitaker remarked: "This is simply a confession. What Dr. Tolmie meant was that something was wrong with British Columbia. 'We don't know what it is, but if elected will appoint someone better than we are to find out.' That was his inference."

WHITTAKER PRAISED

Carew Martin, Federal Liberal candidate in Victoria, praised Mr. Whitaker, whom he said he had found to be a man of high integrity. "The only fault I have to find with him," said Mr. Martin, "is that he is young. I say this because that was the fault found with me in the last election, if it can be called a fault. The qualification for a candidate in this Province, in the minds of some, is that we have one foot in the grave." Mr. Martin quoted statistics to show the enormous development of British Columbia under a Liberal Government. He pointed out, as an example, that in 1916 lumbering produced $35,000,000, while last year it produced $84,000,000, and fisheries increased their output from $14,538,000 in 1916 to $22,800,000 in 1925. In the same period agriculture doubled and mining broke all records. These statistics, he declared, proved that the Provincial Government had administered the resources of the country with vision and sanity. C. F. O'Halloran, Liberal candidate in the Federal riding of Nanaimo, said the relatively slow growth of the southern portions of Vancouver Island compared with other parts of British Columbia was attributable to some degree to its place in the opposition both in the House of Commons and in the Provincial Legislature. Walter Brydon, president of the Saanich Liberal Association, introduced the speakers to the gathering. Following the speeches a vote of sympathy to Premier Oliver in his illness was passed.

CALLOW SIGNED

Philadelphia, Aug. 4.—Official announcement was made to-day that Russell S. Callow of the University of Washington, will be head rowing coach at the University of Pennsylvania beginning September 12.

MARITIME PROVINCES

Nova Scotia - New Brunswick - Prince Edward Island

NOVA SCOTIA

Agriculture - Field crops average $20,000,000 per annum. The production of apples, principally in the Annapolis Valley, reaches about 1,750,000 barrels in a good year.
Forests - The forest areas include nearly ten billion feet of coniferous timber suitable for sawing and 24,000,000 cords of pulpwood.
Fisheries - The much-indented seacoast is the breeding and feeding ground of countless millions of fish, providing an industry of national importance, worth over ten millions in 1925.
Mining - Has the only coal yet discovered on the Atlantic seaboard of America, vast deposits of good quality bituminous being sufficient to last 200 years. Production over $20,000,000 per annum. Other minerals include iron, gold, gypsum, etc.
Manufactures - Has nearly 1,200 manufacturing plants, with a capital of $117,000,000, the most important being huge iron and steel works.
Tourist - An ideal tourist land, visited by over 100,000 tourists every year.
Navigation - Halifax Harbor is one of the finest seaports in the world. It is 616 miles nearer to Liverpool than New York.

NEW BRUNSWICK

Agriculture - Of the 17,863,040 acres of land in the Province, 10,718,000 acres are suitable for agriculture and millions of acres are still available for settlers. Dairying flourishes in this Province, and farm production is estimated at $40,000,000 per annum.
Forests - The Crown lands of 11,720 square miles include large spruce and pine forests, which contribute much to the wealth of the Province.
Fisheries - Famous for its sea fisheries, which have a production of about $5,000,000 per annum.
Mining - Coal underlies an area of 100 square miles, only small portions being worked. Among other minerals are valuable oil shales.
Manufactures - There are nearly 900 manufacturing plants with a capital of close to $92,000,000.
Navigation - The port of Saint John is the winter port of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the port being one of the safest on the Atlantic seaboard.

THE history of the Maritimes dawned in the sagas of the Norsemen; the achievements and potentialities of these Atlantic Provinces are deserving of further epics.

Legend tells how in the year 986 Biarne Heriulfsson sighted these shores when adverse winds tossed him from the course to Greenland. Lief Ericsson made a voyage in the year 1000 to find, if he could, the land seen by Biarne. Centuries later—in 1497—John Cabot's discovery of the Island of Cape Breton, converted some of the legend to fact, but the first real attempt at colonization was made under the patent issued by Henry the Fourth of France to the Sieur des Monts on November 8, 1603. And the new world was known as Acadia.

After a winter of preparation, a party of 120 immigrants including artisans of all trades, laborers and soldiers, sailed from Old France in April, 1604, and established a settlement at Ste. Croix. Champlain accompanied the expedition.

This, and succeeding companies of adventurers, clung to the land, despite privations, conflicting ambitions, and the buffeting of frontier fortune.

New settlements grew, phoenix-like, and prospered from the ashes of the hopes and handiworks of their predecessors and eventually the fertile valleys and forests fulfilled the promise of wealth.

From the founding of Port Royal (Annapolis, N.S.) in 1605 to the present day, the Maritime Provinces have gone from success to success in the task of nation building. The tide of civilization which lapped the Atlantic seaboard so many centuries ago, has surged across the Continent to the Pacific, until pride in the national achievement, a common desire to work for the greater glory of Canada and a belief in her destiny well up in every heart.

The strategic geographical position and physical resources of the Maritime Provinces make a glorious and prosperous future inevitable. Everything points to the fact that these provinces have already crossed the threshold of a new era of prosperity and if the plans now under way for harnessing their tidal waters prove successful, then that development will be immensely hastened and enhanced. The Northern Electric Company is proud of the opportunity to take part in this development by manufacturing much of the equipment necessary for the generation and transmission of electricity.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Agriculture - Possesses 1,397,991 acres of land, nearly all of which is wonderfully fertile, but only a little more than half of which is actually under cultivation in field crops.
Fisheries - Has important fisheries, lobsters and oysters being the greatest source of revenue. Possesses over 200 lobster canneries.
Fur Farming - Is pre-eminent in fur farming, and especially in the raising of silver foxes.

This announcement appears in the press throughout Canada this month. The contributions of Manitoba to the national wealth and resources will be published during September.

NO 'WORK SHY' MEN IN BRITAIN, SAYS PREMIER BALDWIN

Ninety Per Cent of Workers
Have Been Steadily
Employed

Ottawa, Aug. 4.—Addressing the Canadian Club here yesterday, Premier Baldwin said that he had spoken as he could in no other country but England, and added that he regarded Canada as he regarded England. He asked that the problems of the Empire be discussed among the nations forming its component parts.

"We always face our difficulties," he exclaimed. "Let us discuss them and face them among ourselves. Let us not discuss them with any one else."

Mr. Baldwin stated emphatically that the British habit of "ironic depreciation," and remarked amid laughter and applause that it "often misleads a stranger, not always to his advantage."

The British, he continued, were a "grimly practical people," who did not believe that "a man can demonstrate his superiority by crowing. They believed that the place to crow was at the poultry congress."

INDUSTRIAL TROUBLES
Mr. Baldwin referred extensively to industrial troubles in England, and said that there was a tendency abroad to say that the working classes were revolutionary and out for trouble.

"That is a very gross exaggeration and a gross calumny on a fine lot of men," Mr. Baldwin remarked with emphasis. There was, he said, material for trouble in the industrial disruption that followed the war and there were numbers of men intent on fomenting trouble, but they were a minority, "and a very small minority."

COURAGE OF WORKER
At another point in the address when reviewing the troubles of the workers, Mr. Baldwin remarked with emphasis: "Do you wonder that the worker often despairs of facing the future. But he is facing it with a courage beyond all praise."

British Government's plan to raise an additional 1,000,000 troops. Failing to carry this programme, he launched an attack against conscription, but finally agreed to abide by the wishes of Redmond and withdrew his opposition to the Military Service Bill.

In 1916 he denounced the Government's methods of dealing with the Irish revolt and condemned the practice of executing Irish revolutionaries. He was the author of several motions in the House of Commons urging the Government to disclose its plans for the administration of Ireland, declaring a decision to hold elections on the Home Rule question would be welcomed throughout the Empire.

ATTACKED SINN FEIN
In 1917 he attacked the Sinn Feiners, declaring they had alienated sympathy in the United States for the Irish cause. In another speech a year later he deplored the financial aid the Sinn Fein Party was receiving from New York.

Physically, Dillon was of great height, which was accentuated by his slenderness. His long, thin face was covered by a full beard. His disposition was described as melancholic when he entered Parliament and his friends say it never changed.

Mr. Dillon was born in 1851. He attended the Catholic University of Dublin, and became a member of the Royal College of Surgeons upon his graduation. In 1893 he married Elizabeth Mathew, daughter of Lord Justice Mathew. She died in 1907.

WORKMAN AT TRAIL LOST LIFE TO-DAY

Trail, B.C., Aug. 4.—Sam Gretchin, a member of the Grand Forks colony of Doukhobors, was buried alive here this morning while digging in a thirteen-foot sewer line. Water immediately followed the cave-in, greatly handicapping the work of the rescuers. The body was recovered after nearly an hour's frantic work, but life was extinct. Gretchin had been on the job only three days.

Boy in Vancouver Killed by Motor Car

Vancouver, Aug. 4.—Injuries received by K. Takaka, fourteen-year-old Japanese boy, when struck by an automobile on Powell Street here last evening, resulted in his death this morning at a hospital.

According to the driver of the automobile, Charles Amesbury, the boy ran out from behind a parked car directly in front of him. Both wheels of Amesbury's car passed over the boy's body.

Seattle, Aug. 4.—The Seattle weather bureau to-day forecast that for several days the temperature would not change sufficiently to relieve the forest fire situation in this state. Forest and brush fires were reported burning in virtually every section of the state.

A new blaze of extensive proportions was reported last night five miles north of the Canadian border. It is on the divide between the Skagit and Chilliwack Rivers.

Rockefeller Asked To Boycott Soviet

New York, Aug. 4.—The New York Herald-Tribune says that an appeal to John D. Rockefeller Jr., active head of the Standard Oil, to withdraw from any financial deals with the Soviet Government, has been made by Sir Henri Deterding, managing director of the Royal Dutch Shell Oil group of Great Britain.

The appeal was made after the Royal Dutch group had been unable to block two large United States oil companies, members of the Standard Oil group, from entering into oil contracts with the Soviet.

In his letter, Sir Henri is understood to have appealed to Mr. Rockefeller's interest in churches and philanthropic work, pointing out that the Soviet had destroyed churches and similar institutions as well as having confiscated property and nationalized all industry.

JAMES H. BEATTY GIVES REVIEW OF OSTEND CONVENTION

Incidents of Tour of Western Europe Told Rotary Club Members

An outline of some of the proceedings of the Rotary convention at Ostend was given the Rotary Club to-day by James H. Beatty, at the Empress Hotel. Incidents of the journey to Ostend and experiences in Britain, France, Belgium and Ireland, were recalled.

Athletic displays, parades and other entertainments on lavish scale were features of the Ostend programme. The attendance of King Albert of Belgium was mentioned, also the luncheon extended the delegates of His Majesty.

The Canadian delegates were taken on a tour of the battlefields of the Great War, Mr. Beatty stating that the memorials erected by Canada were the finest tributes to the war dead to be seen anywhere.

A visit to Zeebrugge attracted interest. Mr. Beatty remarking upon the skillful and complete blockade of the Bruges Canal effected by the British navy.

Belgium has recovered from the effects of the war, and the speaker told of the reconstruction and prosperity in Northern France. Visit to Paris and Versailles were recalled.

London was described as a wonderfully clean city, equipped with numerous parks in all areas, and Mr. Beatty paid a tribute to the evident reconstruction in recent years. Visits were paid to Scotland, various parts of England and Ireland, Mr. Beatty giving sketches of conditions in North and South Ireland.

Rotarians of Port Angeles will be guests of the Victoria Rotary Club on Thursday, August 25, the visit being timed to permit attendance at the Provincial Exhibition at the Willows.

Miss Marjorie Watson rendered a group of soprano solos, accompanied by Mrs. Burdon, Murphy of the Columbia School of Music.

HEAT MAKES FIRE HAZARD SERIOUS

No Big Outbreaks Yet, But Experts Fear Drought and Lightning in Woods

Forestry officials here waited anxiously to-day for news of the big forest fire which is burning outside Alberni. Rangers at the scene of the blaze were too busy fighting it to report on its progress, but last night it was stated that the flames had covered a large area. Only slash has been burned, and so far green timber is safe. The fire does not menace travelers, but is confined to logged-off areas.

Two fires were started on the Lillooet River in the last few days by lightning, but no serious outbreaks are burning now. Continued drought and heat, however, have created a serious menace in the woods, forestry experts reported, and no relief is in sight.

The Dominion Weather Bureau here predicted continued heat and lightning in the interior, where fire outbreaks are feared.

fact. The World War brought about many differences between the two men, but there never was a serious rupture. In all his ideas, vehemently, often vociferously expressed, Dillon was regarded as the venturesome pioneer, while Redmond acted as a force of sober, second-day reflection.

Dillon was a physician by training and a politician by nature. Retiring from Parliament in 1883, he spent two years in California, but the thought of a political campaign was uppermost in his mind and the year 1885 found him back in Ireland running for office. He was defeated as member from North Tyrone, whereupon he entered the race to represent East Mayo and went in by a substantial majority.

AGREEING TO DISAGREE

AFTER SEVEN WEEKS IN CONFERENCE at Geneva, Great Britain, the United States, and Japan have decided to disagree upon the number of cruisers, destroyers, and submarines each should have and the size of the guns that should be mounted upon such vessels. The gathering was arranged in order that these three nations—the principal naval powers of the world—might discover a way to lighten the burden of their taxpayers by doing with less fighting ships. They have failed and their representatives will soon be on the way to their homes.

There is no reason to despair of anything more being done to reduce naval armaments. The conference has produced some results. It has enabled the representatives of the three powers to speak plainly to one another, and the information now available will be useful when the time comes to sit round the conference table again. But it is a depressing spectacle, this admission, only nine years after the last shot was fired in the most costly war in the history of the world, that huge naval forces are "needed." Nobody has told us yet why it is necessary to have so much force. We know that Great Britain is not building against the United States; we know that the United States is not building against Great Britain; and where is there any suspicion that Japan has sinister motives against either of the other two powers?

Premier Baldwin does not encourage us much. He told the Canadian Club at Ottawa yesterday that disarmament would mean hardship to those people in the Old Country who are employed in the steel business. Surely we have not reached a point when we must accept the argument that the manufacture of machinery which is intended for destruction is the only way to insure continuous employment to certain sections of the population. Would it not be simpler to attend to their wants by furnishing employment on enterprises that at least would be reproductive?

A SUCCESSFUL EVENT

THOSE WHO WERE RESPONSIBLE FOR the arrangements for the third World's Poultry Congress have reason to be proud of the outstanding success of this event, now just concluded at Ottawa. It was a fortunate circumstance which permitted the Prince of Wales and Prince George, as well as Premier Baldwin, to visit the great exhibition of feathered aristocrats and obtain a first-hand impression of the international significance of the occasion. It will help to assure the success of the next Congress in London.

Although the world's poultry raising industry will benefit immeasurably by the interchange of ideas which is made possible at these events, Canada, in this instance undoubtedly will be the principal gainer, as a large number of the delegates propose to cross the Dominion and acquaint themselves with its possibilities for the agriculturist. The great majority of these visitors—they come from forty countries—are in Canada for the first time, and they will learn more about her and her people in the few weeks they are the country's guests than they could by many years' study of official literature.

THE CASE OF SACCO AND VANZETTI

FEW CASES IN RECENT YEARS HAVE attracted so much public attention as that of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, who murdered a shoe factory paymaster and his guard at South Braintree, Mass., in the Spring of 1920. New interest centres upon it by reason of the fact that the Governor of the State announced yesterday that he sees no reason why he should reverse the death sentence originally imposed and extend executive clemency to the two men. Their reprieve ends next Wednesday and, unless new developments ensue, they will pay the penalty for their deed on that day.

It will be remembered that all the evidence presented to the court which tried Sacco and Vanzetti was of a circumstantial nature; but the men were found guilty and the death sentence was imposed. Not very long afterwards, however, compatriots and friends of the prisoners began to circulate petitions in the United States, Italy, France, Great Britain, and other countries, urging that clemency be extended. They pointed out in these petitions that the somewhat explosive atmosphere of that early post-war period, when Communists and other radical elements occasionally got out of hand, had prejudiced the case of Sacco and Vanzetti in the eyes of the public and the law, implying that both judge and jury had reached decisions which they would not have done under more normal circumstances.

In the long interval which has elapsed since the crime was committed there have been numerous demonstrations and representations from organizations in many countries which succeeded in obtaining a reprieve for the two men until the tenth of this month. For several weeks now, the fateful day drawing ominously near, renewed efforts have been made either to extend the reprieve or to obtain their release. It even was suggested that Colonel Dreyfus, the French soldier who was freed from Devil's Island after his innocence of the crime which sent him there had been established, should come over to the United States and conduct a campaign in behalf of Sacco and Vanzetti, the idea being that his own case of wrongful imprisonment would influence public opinion. But the Governor of the State, after reviewing all evidence in the light of reason and the demand that justice be done, sees nothing in it to cause him to alter the original verdict.

In Massachusetts the record for law enforcement is better than that of most other States, largely because it lacks the spacious opportunities for the play of legal technicalities which prove so helpful to criminals elsewhere. Moreover, the world-wide agitator in favor of the two accused men could not have helped them in the slightest. The case of Sacco and Vanzetti is the business of Massachusetts. We assume that if the Governor of that State had found just ground to change the court's verdict, he would have done so, irrespective of the petitions and threats which have been pouring upon him from all parts of the world—to which, quite properly, he paid no attention. He found none, and the sentence stands.

AS OTHERS SEE US

MANY CANADIAN NEWSPAPERS have noted the chorus of praise of this country which has arisen outside the Dominion on the occasion of our Diamond Jubilee. Some of these journals have reprinted the written word with a justifiable amount of pride. One tribute appears in The Toronto Globe—it comes from Mr. W. K. Kellogg, an American manufacturer of Battle Creek, Michigan—who tells how much he was impressed twenty years ago, when he began his business connection with Canada, with the optimism and vision that permeated the industrial atmosphere. He points to the evidences which he sees on every hand as justifying the vision and confidence of the Fathers of Confederation—the vast wheatfields of the West; the opening up of the mineral treasure house in the Laurentian Hills across Northern Quebec, Ontario, and Manitoba; the timber, fisheries, and other natural resources of British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces. The development of those great natural resources, with the utilization of the unending and almost unlimited water power, making possible the opening up of new agricultural and manufacturing opportunities, he claims as a justification of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's declaration that the 20th century would be Canada's.

Striking indications of the vitality and energy of the Canadian people during the period in which he has been associated with them, this American manufacturer finds in Government statistics, which he rightly characterizes as being, to say the least, little short of phenomenal. "With capital used in manufacturing showing an increase of more than 600 per cent., and exports of manufactured products more than 2,500 per cent., it is, to my mind," he remarks, "an evidence of prosperity of which Canadians may well be proud. When we realize that with a population of less than ten millions Canada is manufacturing more than the United States did when they had fifty millions, your people can look forward with every confidence to the possibility of, might we say, a tenfold increase when you celebrate your centennial."

Our pessimists who continually harp on what they call the loss of our population through lack of industrial development should note what Mr. Kellogg says—that Canada, with a population of ten millions, is manufacturing more than the United States did when that country had a population of fifty millions. Surely there is something in this of which Canadians may be proud.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

A MODEL WILL

From The Stratford Beacon-Herald

Mr. Bouthier, who died recently in Ottawa in his ninety-first year, left a will which might well serve as a pattern for other testators, especially those who are well-to-do. This prelate, who, we are told, was characterized by humanity and charity, declared in his will that those of his debtors who found themselves unable to honor their obligations were freed of their debts, with the understanding that should their financial standing later permit, they redeem their honesty by giving the money due him to charitable works. The matter of whether or not the debtors can pay is left entirely to themselves, a clause in the will specifying that there is to be no investigation. This clause is said to be typical of the faith held by Mr. Bouthier in the honesty of every man.

RAILWAYS FOR PEDESTRIANS

From The Toronto Star

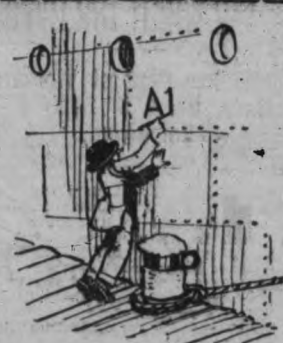

Jack Miner thinks there should be more pathways for pedestrians along motor-monopolized highways. He is right. In thickly populated districts and in the neighborhood of schools there should be somewhere for old and young to walk, where motors cannot overrun them. "Just recently," says Miner, "my boy drove me to Windsor, a distance of twenty-six miles, and I counted eighty-five children dodging their way to school along our cement highway, and to me it looked pitifully wicked. One little fellow actually fell into the ditch in his efforts to escape those dodging gas-burners that came upon him from east and west."

Ditches alongside the highways have in many instances wiped out the footpaths that once existed. To walk comfortably, pedestrians must take to the pavement. To walk with any degree of safety, they must face the vehicular traffic, and then, if anything happens to them, it is pointed out that they were on the wrong side of the road. But given their safety is not complete. Pathways should be provided for pedestrians if the pedestrian is conceded to have any rights at all.

A THOUGHT

Behold, we count them happy which endure.—James vi. 11.
I have often had occasion to notice the fortitude with which women endure the most overwhelming reverses of fortune.—Irving

Do You Mean What You Say?

"A-1" is used by British and American companies in rating vessels for insurance. The conditions of the ships' hulls are indicated by the letter, and that of the cables and other equipment by the number. Thus "A-1" indicates a first-rate hull and second-rate equipment. The expression "A-1" is now commonly used to denote anything that is first-class in every way.

Canadian Questions and Answers

UNITED EMPIRE LOYALISTS

Q. Who were the United Empire Loyalists, and how many came to Canada?

A. The United Empire Loyalists were citizens of the Thirteen Colonies who, at the time of and after the American Revolution, came to Canada so as to remain under the British flag. It is estimated that 40,000 entered this country, forming the pioneer stock in many parts of the land. The first number landed on the shores of the Bay of Quinte on June 16, 1794.

thrilled his imagination and his thoughts were ever westward. He was familiarly known, came to Canada in 1888 and entered the service of the Great Canadian Life Assurance Co., "counting" rates' tails' at the posts in the vicinity of Montreal. He was then sent (1891) to the King's Posts on the bleak northern shore of the Lower St. Lawrence after six years in this desolate region he was dispatched to the Esquimaux Bay District on the far Labrador coast. This was like being exiled to Siberia, but young Smith made the best of it. He so labored that he won the esteem and confidence of the officials of the H.B.C., and of his fellow traders. His life here gave him courage, resourcefulness and self reliance. In 1892, he was made a chief factor and later a chief trader, but he still remained on the Labrador coast and was there when Confederation was achieved.

In 1898 he was appointed chief executive officer of the Company in North America and was to be stationed at Montreal. He was scarcely installed in his new office when trouble arose in the Northwest, the greatest field of the H.B.C. and of his fellow traders. His life here gave him courage, resourcefulness and self reliance. Instant relief from Corns

Even the most stubborn corns lift out, root and all—easily and painlessly—after one or two Radox foot-baths. People are continually telling us so. Read this letter:

"Radox has done wonders for me. I shall certainly always use it now. My poor feet were so tired and weary, being on my feet all day long, and were developing corns and hard skin. My husband also had an awful corn, and he got instant relief from using Radox Bath Salts. He says it is the finest remedy he has ever tried. It acts like a charm."

When you dip your feet into a foot-bath containing Radox Bath Salts, the dead skin of the corn combines with the Radox Salts to form a protein salt of the actual corn itself. This protein salt dissolves in the water, and so softens the corn that after a few baths it may be lifted out bodily. Radox does not affect the living skin, but dissolves the corn.

FRECKLES

Fun and Wind Bring Hot Gaily Spots
How to Remove Easily.

Here's a chance, Miss Freckleface, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes your freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any drug or department store and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Barely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove your freckles. (Adv.)

Town Planning Body to Study
Needs of Victoria and Environ May Follow

The creation of a major street plan, marking out the arterial highways of the city and its environs, may be the next step in the Victoria zoning plan. Attention to the phase of the city's course under the Town Planning Act is now being given by the zoning committee of the City Council, with a study of what is taking place on the coast at other points.

On the mainland, it is learned, the Point Grey Town Planning Commission is reported to be studying the medium of what is taking place on the coast at other points. Certain through streets, leading from one traffic source to another, have been located as potential arterial highways. These are to be widened gradually and will serve to keep traffic off the residential streets, so reducing the danger of child fatalities.

Some streets at present of minor importance have been marked by the Point Grey Commission as of future importance, and preparation is being made now to secure when wanted the necessary width for the ultimate pressure on these streets. Expropriation is resorted to but sparingly, the medium of control being the zoning provisions which fix building lines for future construction. The plan is so designed that when the necessity to widen a street occurs the land affected will be clean of buildings, and the project thereby rendered the easier.

The major street plan, it is pointed out, serves two main purposes, being an immediate provision for the high-pressure streets, and ultimate provision for the future requirements of streets of growing importance at the low-cost period of the city's life.

An example of the costly changes forced upon a city by traffic development where a street plan has not been created was brought before the Point Grey Commission in the instance of Los Angeles. There a corner desired for widening purposes was rejected because it would cost $3,000. When the land had to be obtained for the prosecution of the work after the cost was in the neighborhood of $900,000, as property values in the area had grown with the importance of the street.

The major street plan, it is pointed out, would give a definite scheme on which to proceed with street improvements yearly, and under which money could be spent to the best advantage in creating highways of future as well as of present use; and affords the best means whereby a city can work in conjunction with surrounding municipalities to solve a common highway plan suitable to all. The creation of a joint body by Victoria and its neighbor municipalities to study the question may follow.

ECONOMIC GROWTH CANADA'S PROBLEM

Manchester Guardian Says
Political Questions Not Greatest For Future

London, Aug. 4 (Canadian Press Cable)—The Manchester Guardian, Liberal, in an editorial on the celebration in Ottawa of the sixtieth anniversary of Confederation, says all parties will agree that the Canadian constitution has worked well in the main.

"It is true," the newspaper continues with reference to the constitution, "that it saddles the nation with an appointed Senate whose members hold office for life, whose seats are filled as they fall vacant in accordance with the vicious spoils system which so gravely taints Canadian political life, as in a greater degree it does American political life, but reform of the Senate seems to prove a thoroughly a problem to the successive Canadian Governments as that of the House of Lords to our Government, and the anomaly persists."

TRUE TEST
The true test of the Canadian constitution lies in the fact that without amendment it has enabled the Dominion to develop full equal status with the Mother Country.

"The national difficulties are not political but physical and racial, and it will not be with the question of advancing the status of Canada that the Dominion will be occupied in the next sixty years. What is to be the ultimate solution of the clash of economic interests is the engrossing problem of Canada's future."

ONTARIO PIONEER RECALLS OLD DAYS

A noted old-timer of Eastern Canada, in the person of William B. Robinson was here in a visitor to Victoria's at the home of Capt. A. E. Jones, 3487 S. Street.

Mr. Robinson was born in May, 1848. During the time of the Civil War in the United States, near a tavern on the old Raisin Road, eighteen miles from the Detroit River, Mr. Robinson had an experience which he recalled today. He saw two Canadians there, who had deserted from the Northern army. They were chopping wood when two Northern army non-commissioned officers arrived in a rig and tried to put the two under arrest to take them across the Detroit River to shoot for desertion. A crowd gathered, took the wheels off the officers' wagon and appeared so determined that the prisoners were turned loose.

Out of that band, who saved the Canadian deserters from being taken off, an independent company of soldiers was formed under Capt. Billings, with Mr. Robinson, two brothers and Timothy Jones, father of Capt. Jones, as members. Mr. Robinson is one of the two or three members still living. During the Fenian Raid of 1885, this company did service at Windsor, guarding the Detroit River. This is Mr. Robinson's third trip to the Pacific Coast.

Director Attended Hudson's Bay Company's Outing

Hon. A. J. P. Howard and Mrs. Howard, of London, at Annual Picnic at Deep Cove Yesterday; 600 Present

With Hon. A. J. P. Howard, a director of the company, and Mrs. Howard, a daughter of Premier Baldwin, as guests of honor, the sixth annual picnic of the Hudson's Bay Company held at Deep Cove yesterday, went down into history as one of the most successful in the annals of the local store.

Over 600 employees and their friends journeyed out to the Chalet, which was the day's rendezvous, seven tallies and a string of private automobiles making the journey from town. The store closed for the entire day, and as early as 11 o'clock the sports programme was commenced at Deep Cove with twenty-eight events to arouse the enthusiasm of the fans.

MYSTERY MAN FOUND

After the excellent luncheon provided by the company, a comic football game between the Presidents and the Ladies' team, both teams wearing ludicrous costumes, aroused much amusement, and the victory of the Crescents by 1-0 drew cheers from the onlookers. "Have you got the book?" was heard on all sides as the picketers strove to solve the identity of the mystery man, who was present with a tabloid history of Canada, prepared by the company, and who was rewarded with a prize of $5.

PRIZES PRESENTED

Mrs. A. J. P. Howard presented the prizes to the winners of the events, and at the close she and Mr. Howard were heartily cheered. R. Addie won the silver cup presented by Charles V. Sale, Governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, for securing the greatest aggregate of points in the sports. As this is the third year Mr. Addie has won it, the cup becomes his property. The cup, presented by A. J. Watson, manager of the Victoria branch, to the lady winning the greatest aggregate of points, was won by Miss Kay Freestone.

Prizes were donated by the following: Mrs. Abbott, Misses McLaren, Drimmon and Cicerio, Messrs. A. J. Watson, Horne, Banner, McElnay, McColl, Minnie, Woodland, Wilkinson, Hunter, Smith, Stewart, Mowry, Florence, Nicolls, Spratt, Savage, Stark, Gordon, Hansen, Martin, Wilson, Davidson, Buchanan, Johnson, Strain, G. Hibberd, Edgcombe and the Hudson's Bay Employees' Association.

Judges of the events were: J. S. Horne, C. Banner, J. Martin and W. T. Edgcombe. C. Hibberd announced and A. Haines was the starter. R. Eaton was clerk of the course and the grounds committee were L. Lea, W. McIntosh, L. Hutchison and W. Kroeger.

At 6 o'clock a basket supper was enjoyed, following by dancing, bringing to a close a most enjoyable outing.

THE PRIZEWINNERS

Following are the sports results:

DEATH SENTENCE FOR SACCO AND VANZETTI

Boston Bandits Lose Seven-year Battle For Life

Condemned Men Resigned to Governor's Decision

Boston, Aug. 4.—Exactly one week from today Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti's seven-year battle to escape death for murder will end in the electric chair at the Charlestown state prison, unless their counsel can discover an avenue of appeal to the Federal courts. That possibility is admittedly a slender one.

Governor T. A. Fuller, in a momentous decision of 2,500 words, definitely closed their last hope of escape by appeal to the executive branches of the government of the Commonwealth by rejecting their plea for clemency just before midnight. He declared he believed with the jury which tried them in 1921 that they were the murderers of Frederick Parmenter of South Braintree, paymaster, and Alessandro Berardelli, his guard.

He further asserted that their trial had been fair and just and that he had no reason for granting them a rehearing.

HELD LITTLE HOPE

As the hour approached when Governor Alvan T. Fuller was to sign his decision in their case, Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Van Zetti, sentenced to the electric chair for murder, awaited the verdict with little hope of reports emanating from their cells in the death house at Charlestown state prison said the condemned men had resigned themselves to an unfavorable decision by the governor.

Rapid City, S.D., Aug. 3.—President Coolidge is not expected to intervene in favor of Sacco and Vanzetti. He always has held that it was a case belonging wholly within the jurisdiction of the Massachusetts courts.

While no extra guards have been placed about the President it was regarded as likely that every precaution would be taken to prevent persons reaching him who might desire to solicit his influence.

SETTLERS POURING INTO CANADA NOW, DR. KING STATES

Thousands of Newcomers Filling up Prairies and Peace River Country

Unparalleled Progress Ahead of This Country, Federal Minister Asserts

Vancouver, Aug. 4.—Settlers are pouring into the western prairies and into the Peace River country in thousands, heralding an enormous expansion in Canadian business, Hon. J. H. King, Federal Minister of Health and Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, declared in a speech before the Vancouver Board of Trade. He predicted unparalleled progress in British Columbia during the next few years as productivity increased.

No fewer than 200,000 newcomers had entered Western Canada during the past year, said the Minister. They were not to be found in Winnipeg and the other cities. They had disappeared from sight out on the vast prairies and were working on the land, most of them as laborers for the present, but with the determination of taking up land of their own as soon as they had acquired the necessary experience.

"Our railway development department assure us that Canada can absorb 250,000 to 300,000 people a year in this way," said Dr. King.

After quoting statistics illustrative of the tremendous growth which Canada had experienced in recent years and of the unparalleled per capita trade and wealth of the Canadian people, Dr. King said:

"In these circumstances the Canadian Government should have no hesitation in spending money for the development of facilities for our trade and commerce. I personally have no hesitation and I can assure you that the Government is prepared to provide means of distributing the products of the great interior."

The Minister complimented the Board of Trade on the cordiality of relations which had always existed between that organization and him, as of British Columbia's spokesman in the Cabinet.

"When we have disagreed," he said, "it is because I have to report to a large body, the Parliament of Canada."

BIG GROWTH SEEN

To fortify himself with facts by which he could prove to his eastern colleagues that he was not telling stories about the importance and growth of the West, Dr. King said that he had obtained some figures from the Harbor Commission that day.

"While I knew big things were being done here I was amazed to find that the tonnage calling at this port last year was $4,935,000 while that of Montreal was $3,100,000," he said. "That shows we have not misplaced our confidence in this port and I believe in a few years Vancouver will take her place with Montreal but you must not expect too much for Montreal and the East are prosperous and growing too. Their growth is enhanced by the development of the West and they are coming more and more to realize that fact."

Saying there had been some criticism of the Government for having leased to private interests the elevators and port facilities built with public

HARD TIMES IN JAPAN NOW GROW WORSE

Tokio, Aug. 4.—A resume of the business conditions in Japan, published by the Nippon News Agency to-day, presents a direful picture, with the unprecedented depression showing no signs of abating. Greatly increased unemployment is predicted.

The principal industries show a great falling off in production; spinning is fifteen per cent; sugar refining over fifty per cent; flour milling forty-five per cent; paper manufacture seventeen per cent; cement 20 per cent, and fertilizer sixteen per cent.

Of more than thirty banks which closed during the recent financial panic, only two small ones have reopened, the resume says.

The principal industries show a great falling off in production; spinning is fifteen per cent; sugar refining over fifty per cent; flour milling forty-five per cent; paper manufacture seventeen per cent; cement 20 per cent, and fertilizer sixteen per cent.

The mud will be deposited on the adjoining ground, making possible the reclamation of twenty-five acres suitable for industrial sites.

As an aid to the St. Siren in foggy weather, the Matson Naval Company has installed on its liner Matsonia an electric lighting flash so adjusted as to function in co-ordination with the ship's whistle. The light warning in the form of a circle high up on the main mast, and of a powerful electric light. Operating officials of the company say that if the flash light system proves helpful as a fog warning other ships of the line will be similarly equipped.

Six of the Alaska Packers' ships, three sailing vessels and three steamers, are en route from Bristol Bay to San Francisco with the first of the season's salmon catch. Reports received from the Alaskan Fishing Station state that the pack this year will fall considerably below normal.

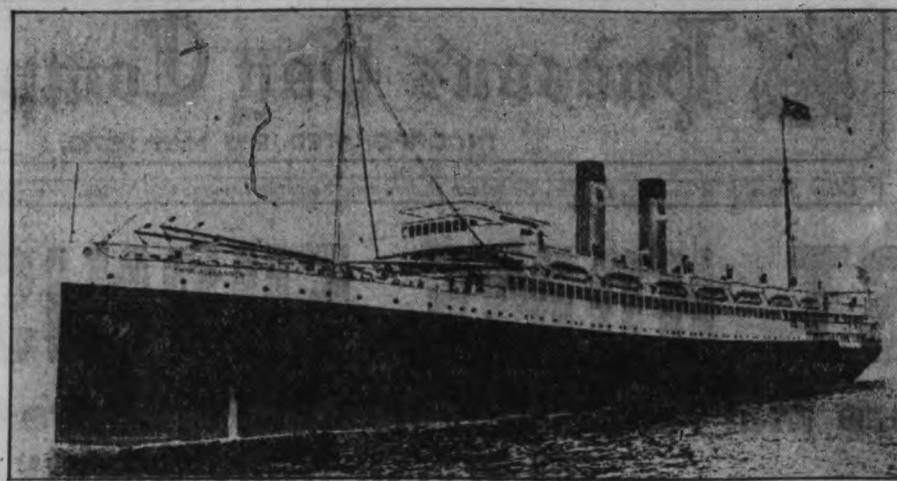

Dr. King said he personally approved the course adopted by the board.

BIG GRAIN PORT

"The grain trade has changed greatly in ten years," he said. "To-day it is largely in the hands of three groups, the Wheat Pool, the Grain Growers and a combination of private firms. In interesting those concerns in your port the Harbor Board has brought about a condition where they must expect too much for Montreal and the East are prosperous and growing too. Their growth is enhanced by the development of the West and they are coming more and more to realize that fact."

Dr. King also spoke of the importance of the collection of statistics from the standpoint of building up national sentiment and said that with the value of the British Commonwealth, the people of British Columbia should not be afraid of the country stepping out and asserting her nationhood.

DECREASE SEEN IN C.P.R. EARNINGS

Smaller Grain Haul Factor in Drop of $569,646.35 in Gross Earnings

Montreal, Aug. 4.—Gross earnings amounting to $22,545,350 and net earnings of $646,504.99 are shown in summary of earnings and expenses of the Canadian National Railways for the month of June.

These figures compare with gross earnings of $23,114,896.35 and net earnings of $2,027,580.66 for the month of June, 1926. This indicates a decrease in gross earnings of $669,546.35, equivalent to 2.9 per cent in June, 1927 in comparison with June of the previous year, and also a decrease in net earnings for last June of $1,381,075.67 when compared with the same month of 1926.

Working expenses in June, 1927, totaled $21,898,845.01 as against $21,087,315.69 in June, 1926, an increase of $811,529.32 or 3.85 per cent.

A number of factors enter into this condition, one being grain traffic. Owing to the smaller carry over this year there was less grain hauled in June, the result being a reduction of approximately $1,000,000 in earnings from the smaller volume of traffic with June, 1926. On the other hand, general traffic earnings improved to the extent of approximately $600,000 when compared with those of June of last year.

While the month of June last shows a decrease in grain earnings when the figures are compared with those of June, 1926, the past month compares quite favorably with the similar month over a period of six years, while June of last year represented the highest gross for the month since the amalgamation of the various lines into the present system.

In the increased working expenses shown in June last in comparison of those of a year previously, is reflected various wage increases granted during the current season, and which in this instance have added nearly $300,000 to the expenditures.

The operating ratio for June last was 97.13 in comparison with 91.23 per cent for June, 1926, but the former percentage has been bettered only twice during the period of amalgamation, on three occasions deficits being recorded in the month of June.

For the six-month period of the current year the gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways total $129,698,814 compared with $125,461,890.84 for the same period of 1926, an increase in 1927 of $4,236,923.15, equivalent to 3.39 per cent. In the same period the working expenses were $125,628,624.74 in 1927 as against $109,904,155.85 in 1926, an increase of $15,724,468.89, or 14.3 per cent.

The net earnings for the first six months of 1927 amount to $4,147,070.78 compared with $15,557,734.99 for the six months of 1926, a decrease in net of $11,410,664.21, a reduction of 73.5 per cent.

The operating ratio for six months of 1927 was 90.15 per cent as against 87.60 per cent for the first six months of 1926.

Vestalia Sails

After loading 800,000 feet of lumber at the Cedar Point pier the steamer ship Vestalia departed for Quebec and other Atlantic seaboard ports at 5:50 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways for the week ended July 21, 1927, were $4,916,276, as compared with $4,852,855.49, for the same week of 1926, an increase of $63,420.51 or one per cent.

COAST GUARDS HUNT CANADIAN VESSEL

Ss. Noble Reported Off San Francisco With Two Tons of Liquor Aboard

San Francisco, Aug. 4.—Coastguard cutters spent yesterday hunting near the California shore for the Canadian steamer Noble, reported to have brought from Canada two tons of liquor seized recently. Coastguard Lieut. Austin said that if the Noble were encountered inside the twelve-mile limit his men would seize her.

One shipment of liquor was seized last week at Half Moon Bay, and the other on Tuesday at Salt Point, north of here. The confiscated liquor bore the stamp of Consolidated Exporters Limited, a British Columbia liquor concern.

George W. Andrews, thirty, and Verne Marshall, twenty-seven, were bound over to the Federal grand jury under $5,000 bail each after a hearing yesterday before the United States commissioner on a charge of conspiring to violate the liquor law. They were arrested after a pistol battle near Salt Point yesterday.

The Federal agents seized 273 cases of liquor. Six more suspects escaped.

INCREASE SHOWN IN PASSENGER TRAFFIC

Auto Carrying Capacity on Pacific Steamship Company's Boats Taxed

Seattle, Aug. 4.—Not only has there been a substantial increase in passenger traffic between both the Puget Sound and Columbia River ports to San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, but the auto carrying capacity on the liners of the Pacific Steamship Company has been taxed to the utmost on southbound voyages, according to E. Grant McKicken, passenger traffic manager of the Admiral Line.

"It is estimated by authorities on the matter of auto traffic that 40,000 privately-owned machines have crossed the California-Oregon line so far this year en route to points in Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. While driving is a delightful experience it is noticeable that an exceedingly large number of auto tourists prefer to make the trip but one way, shipping their cars homeward on the Admiral Line to southern ports.

"The simplicity of the 'check your car as you would your trunk' system of carrying an automobile under passengers' baggage provision and tariffs, has struck a responsive chord among Summer auto tourists. Reservations for auto space on decks has been unbelievably large, particularly since the warm weather has set in in the Northwest. Not only does this demand for auto space on the Pacific Coast, but it is proportionately large on the southbound steamers out of Portland to San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego."

WHEAT EXPORTS HIGHER

Washington, Aug. 4.—Grain exports from the United States last week were 3,616,000 bushels as compared with 3,174,000 bushels the week before. It was about 20 per cent in Commerce Department figures giving the following classification totals for the week and the previous week:

Canadian grain exported through United States ports amounted to 963,000 bushels against 423,000 bushels, while North American exports of wheat flour last week were 198,000 barrels against 79,000 barrels.

Vancouver Boys Defeat Scott and Stevens, Tacoma, in P.N.W. Sectional Doubles

Four Brilliant Sets Required to Decide Issue; Good Matches at Willows

Yesterday's play in the tennis tournament at the Willows saw the approach of the quarter-finals in the B.C. events with a consequent tightening up of all matches and a general improvement in the class of tennis produced. However, it was the sectional doubles that held the centre of the spot light as both semi-finals and finals of that event were played off during the afternoon.

For the first time in many years it will be a B.C. team which goes East to represent this section in the National Doubles. Gordon Shields and "Ossie" Ryall, of Vancouver, yesterday won that honor by defeating Scott and Stevens, of Tacoma, after four sets of brilliant tennis. The Tacoma boys produced a beautiful shot in the final of the sectional doubles, but Ryall and Shields accounted for the Langlies in three.

PLAYED TO WEAK SPOT

The winners were well balanced tennis with a glaring weakness except perhaps their service. Yesterday they directed their attack on young Dick Stevens, who, although he brought off many beautiful shots, was the weak link of the team. The result once more proved the old adage that a doubles team is as strong as its weakest member. Despite a taped arm, Scott's service was the same slashing weapon of old but he was not quite equal to the task of stemming the tide of shots which left the racquet of the winners. As it was, however, the Americans took the first set and led 4-1 in the fourth, but the Vancouver boys fought back and eventually won the match by a 6-4, 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

HAD BITTER STRUGGLE

The first meeting of seeded stars was seen yesterday in the ladies' singles with Miss Edith Cross seeded No. 1 opposing Miss Louise McFarland, who rates fifth. The former who is the fourth best lady in California eventually defeated her youthful rival but it was only after a bitter struggle that she did so. Miss McFarland took the first set to the tune of 6-1 and the unexpected seemed likely to happen but Miss Cross squared the match by capturing the second set 6-2. She was hitting deep drives to Miss McFarland's backhand and this plan paid her in the long run although her opponent made many beautiful shots on both wings. At four all in the third set it was anybody's match but Miss Cross then broke through her opponent's service and followed by taking her own for the match. It was a great battle and both players were applauded to the echo when they left the court.

WALK-OVERS

Miss Leeming, Miss Swartz and Miss Campbell had walk-overs in their round tiffs in the ladies' singles but Leo Heeming gave Miss Marion Williams of California quite an argument before going down to defeat 6-4, 6-3. Miss Cross and Miss Leeming seemed destined to fight it out in the upper half on Friday, while Miss Williams and Miss Swartz look to be likely semi-finalists in the lower bracket.

Shields and Ryall were far from fresh after their sectional win and dropped the second set to Allen and Ruescher, 6-6, 6-4.

Geoff. Peers and Ledley McMaster won from the Hoogs in a surprisingly easy fashion, 6-2, 6-3. Peers won his top form, smashing and volleying in deadly fashion while the losers showed little of the form that enabled them to reach the semi-finals in Vancouver last week.

Esquimalt Tennis

The results in the Esquimalt tennis championships yesterday were as follows:

MIXED DOUBLES

(Semi-final)

Miss Thomas and Stock defeated Miss Welch and Davey, 6-2, 6-4.

Thinks "House" Will Easily

Begins Hard Training

New York, Aug. 4.—The Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight title fight is definitely fixed for September 22 at Chicago, Tex. Rickard announced today after receiving a telegram from Jack Dempsey specifying this date in preference to September 15. Dempsey wired the promoter that he will be ready to leave Los Angeles for Chicago August 15, to start training at a camp to be selected.

Shortly after arriving here from Chicago Rickard disclosed that the Tunney-Dempsey match will be the last world heavyweight fight to be staged outside of New York.

"Next year at this time," he said, "New York will have the finest outdoor stadium in the world, especially constructed to give every spectator a clear view of fights or any outdoor sport. It will hold more people than either the mammoth Philadelphia or Chicago stadiums. I have already secured financial backing."

SEATING UNSATISFACTORY

"Never again will I hold a championship or other big match in a ball park. The seating arrangements at the Yankee stadium, where Dempsey fought Jack Sharkey, were unsatisfactory. I never have received so many complaints before and people who had seen every bout I have staged told me they would never come to a ball park for another fight."

The advance sale for the fight in Chicago is close to the $1,000,000 mark. Rickard said. The "House" will hit $2,000,000 easily, he believes, and he even thinks it possible that the 140,000 capacity of the municipal stadium will not be sufficient to hold the crowd.

Speculator, N.Y. Gene Tunney, world's champion heavyweight, has started intensive training for the second round match to be held at Soldiers Field, Chicago, in September.

The ex-marine covered four miles in his roadwork in the morning and followed by taking her own for the match. It was a great battle and both players were applauded to the echo when they left the court.

Lloyd Wordeley took the first set from Johnnie Riso but the former University of California star made certain of the next two letting the younger contender down with three games in singles as he is in doubles and he was only able to get five games in two sets from Riso.

Adon won his first match, the former junior flash made five mistakes.

Bradshaw Harrison and Le Roy Rennie both advanced to the quarter-finals by straight set wins. Rennie had quite a tussle with Bob Allen of San Francisco, but his superior steadiness proved the deciding factor.

Heated Circuit-clouting controversy between Gehrig and Ruth has fans going

Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Both Win Their Games in National League

Baseball Interest was centred today on the headlines of Miller Huggins's sacking of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig.

By banging out two homers in yesterday's double-header between the Yankees and Tigers, Gehrig became three up on the Babe in their heated circuit-clouting controversy.

New York won the second game, 8 to 6, by a four-run rally in the seventh after Detroit had taken the opening, 6 to 5.

Boston Red Sox occupied secondary interest in the American league when they beat the Cardinals 2 to 1.

The Cleveland Indians lost two games to Philadelphia. Eddie Rommel, the knuckle-ball artist, beat the tribe by 9 to 0 in the opener, while Rube Walberg obtained the verdict of 7 to 4 in the windup.

Washington and St. Louis were halted by rain.

NO CHANGES MADE

There was no change among the leaders in the National league pennant scramble. The Chicago Cubs overhauled the Boston Braves, 13 to 1, and Paul Waner's homer with two on enabled Pittsburgh to defeat Philadelphia, 9-6 and keep pace with the Cubs.

Manager Robinson shook up his batting order against the Cardinals at St. Louis, but to no avail. The world's champions won by a 4-to-0 score.

The Giants and Cincinnati were rained out.

NATALIE KINGSTON IS DRAWING CARD IN FILM AT PLAYHOUSE

At the Playhouse Theatre this week First National's highly diverting picture, "Lost at the Front," is attracting capacity audiences and one of the reasons is Natalie Kingston in the leading feminine part.

Gorge Sidney and Charlie Murray have the co-starring roles—comedy of course; Miss Kingston is cast as a Russian sculptress. Natalie is a California girl and has the wonderful complexion of most daughters of the Golden State. Her Castilian ancestry—one of her forebears was General Mariano Vallejo, first Governor of California—gives her an olive tint and the lovely very dark brown tresses that go with it.

CLARA BOW APPEARS
ON DOMINION SCREEN

Clara Bow's new starring vehicle, "Rough House Rosie," is now showing at the Dominion Theatre. The belle of Tenth Avenue, Rosie, is momentarily attracted to Arthur Russell, a wealthy young blue blood. Joe, of course, determines to win her back. Kid Farrell, his trainer, advises less politeness and more roughness. Naturally, a good fighter obeys his trainer and Joe determines to become a cave man. One night, when Rosie is getting ready to go out with Russell, her former fiancé makes his appearance and intentions very clear. Equally as tough, Rosie allows her right hand to swing high and low; a little dog runs between his legs; Joe's head hits a table and he sinks to the floor in a coma. Upon recovering, he comes to Joe's conclusion outlined above.

JUNIOR STAR HAS ROLE OF HEROINE IN VARIETY PICTURE

I'm not particular as to the woman I marry. I ask only one thing—that she be a good worker.

Humiliated, desperate, this woman of gentle breeding, out of her element up here in the wheat land and anxious to leave, turns to the man who has just spoken.

"You say that you want a woman to work for you—to cook, wash and sew. Will I do?"

They go from this bare room to a justice of the peace and then set out for the cabin he calls home—there, to begin a fight against nature.

That's the start of Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount starring vehicle, "The Canadian," at the Variety this week. Mona Palma is Meighan's new leading woman. Arthur Stringer adapted the Somerset Maugham play. William Beaudine directed.

VAUDEVILLE ACTS
AT COLISEUM ARE VERY ENTERTAINING

Those who have attended the Coliseum this week, have been pleasantly surprised at the bill introduced this week. The vaudeville is exceptionally good, each act being very entertaining.

Wally Pullman, late of the Strand Merrymakers in Vancouver, is the feature act, playing snappy numbers as well as classical, on his banjo. He is the big hit of the vaudeville bill. On the screen is "The World at Her Feet," Florence Vidor's newest starring vehicle for Paramount.

comedy is laid in a lavish setting, with Miss Vidor, called the screen's most beautiful brunette, there setting her trap to win back the affections of the man she loves. That she does it in a rather unexpected manner is due to Luther Reed, known as one of Paramount's cleverest directors.

SAANICH VETERANS
HEAR FUND-REPORTReport Passed at Provincial Convention Before Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the North Saanich branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.L., was held in the club-rooms Tuesday evening. Owing to the busy season the numbers were not large, but a great deal of business of interest was transacted.

A report was received from the secretary of the provincial command giving a synopsis of the joint meeting of veterans' associations held during the annual convention of the Legion July last, to discuss the matter of the disposal of the canteen funds, showing that after a lot of discussion was indulged in the following resolution was passed unanimously:

"Whereas much of the subject matter presented to the conference in regard to expenditure of canteen funds is being dealt with in legislative proposals, thus indicating possible governmental remedy at forthcoming sessions of the legislatures, your committee recommend that the policy pursued by the board of trustees in the past year be maintained, and that disbursements be made from the principal of the fund as is considered necessary, together with interest for the term intervening between this conference and the next called by the trustees of the canteen fund."

A formal resolution was also adopted by the conference, expressing satisfaction with the administration of the canteen funds in this province by the present board of trustees.

An interesting letter was received from Lieut.-Col. F. A. Roberson, B.C. representative of the National Council of the Legion, showing the activities of the National Council since the last annual convention, especially with reference to the Soldier Settlement Act and amendments.

The branch showed its interest in the forthcoming swimming gala at Sidney by contributing a medal for that event, expressing their appreciation of the Board of Trade in encouraging the art of swimming among the younger generation.

EIGHT FIREMEN GO TO RESCUE OF KITTEN

Kingston, Aug. 4.—It required the services of two trucks, eight firemen and a life net to rescue a kitten that had been chased up a hydro pole here by a dog and refused to come down again. A fireman climbed the pole and pushed the kitten into a net.

the world's greatest tire is BACKED by the world's greatest service

IT is significant that the announcement of the New Goodyear Balloon—The World's Greatest Tire—finds Goodyear with the World's Greatest Dealer Organization.

Striking tribute, that, to Goodyear quality which has gone before and to the still higher quality found in the Newest and Greatest Goodyear Tire.

For Goodyear quality has attracted a group of unusual dealers—dealers whom experience has taught that the Goodyear line is all-sufficient for their communities, that it meets the needs—in quality or in price, as the case may be—of every car owner.

It is not strange that the Goodyear policy of choosing a limited number of dealers (only one in four can sell Goodyears) has been vastly simplified, then, by the eagerness of the more experienced, progressive tire dealers to sell the Goodyear line and to rely on it for the satisfaction and goodwill of their customers.

This great organization of service dealers is planned to distribute Goodyear products, as, indeed, it does, at the lowest cost. The savings so effected are passed on to you in better quality as exemplified in The World's Greatest Tire.

Back of all Goodyear Tires is the service of this dealer organization which is pledged to give Goodyear users skilled assistance in getting the last mile from every Goodyear Tire. By their service you will know that the Goodyear creed is their creed and that their every effort is directed to the end that they may "Protect Our Good Name". If you do not already know the Goodyear Selected Dealer in your community, you will recognize him by the sign which stamps him as a carefully "Selected Dealer".

A Story of One Wonderful Week
By MALCOLM DUART

Stooping, he drew on the ground with his forefinger the route to the old boot-leg headquarters, and showed Pierce where to cut off across the neighboring farm land.

"Don't let 'em see you," he cautioned. "Just get a look at them and come back and give me a description, if they're there."

"Shall I carry a gun?" Pierce asked. "There's no gun around the place," Bodey said. "A revolver makes a man nervous—he's likely to do foolish things if he has one. You'll be better off with your fists—and your long legs."

The three of them returned to the kitchen in high good humor. It was past time for dinner, and Nadine hurriedly set about cooking a hasty lunch. Bodey went upstairs to see his brother, and Pierce, bubbling with spirits, sat down to try to entertain young Smith.

"I heard a big bumping around there, and something upset," said Smith. "I wonder why he didn't holler?"

"The better educated a man is, the less he yells when he fights," stated Pierce.

"That ain't so," the boy said, after brief consideration. "When I went to district school and the boys fought the teacher, she'd holler her head off. She was educated."

"Rules don't apply to women," said Pierce. "Not any rules. They only follow a rule as long as they like. When they get tired of a rule—bang it goes, into little pieces!"

"You know a lot about women, don't you?" inquired Nadine, ironically, whipping some batter in a bowl.

"Quite a lot," answered Pierce. "Lucy says I do," he added, with malice.

"Who's Lucy?" asked Smith.

"She's Mr. Pierce's sweetie," said Nadine. "She writes letters to him."

"You'd better not let me hear that," said Smith, with a broad grin. "She's sweet on Pierce, too. Talked to me nearly an hour one day about how I ought to try to act the way he does."

Nadine looked sidelong at the elder of the youths, and her eyes twinkled. "Don't blush so, Charley," she urged.

Pierce hastily rose and hurried to the door, pursued by a shout of raucous laughter from the boys.

"Ma! I'm going to grab him and marry him," pursued Smith, with pleasure.

"Isn't she a little old for Charley?" Nadine was testing her skill to see if they were not enough.

"Her? Ho, ho!" shouted the youth. "When ma feels like ma, she'd think she was a kitten. D'ja notice how she plasters red on her face? She even does it when she goes out ploughing."

"But you oughtn't to make fun of her," the girl said. "She's been as good to you as she knows how to be, hasn't she?"

"I guess so," he answered, with unexpected justice. "She's always worked hard and fed me the best she could, and bought my clothes, and stood up for me against that old man. But, my gosh! She'd just blister me with her tongue! Bawled me out about everything; hit me a crack every once in a while—called me a lunkhead and a fool. Why do women act that way?"

"Ask Mr. Pierce. He understands women," suggested Nadine.

"Him? He don't understand 'em as good as I do. He's stuck on you, ain't he?"

"Why," said the girl, with careful indifference, "I haven't the faintest idea."

"You have too," said he. "He is and Bodey is and Bodey's brother is and—"

His voice died away for a moment, and then came back with vigor—"and I am!"

Nadine laid down the long spoon from which she was preparing to drop batter into one of the frying pans.

"Surely you're mad," said she.

"I am," he asserted. "All of us are. You think I'm dumb, don't you? But I sit around here and see things. Say, kid, he worked his chair nearer to her. 'If I can get away from this dump and don't get pinched by the sheriff or anybody, and get a regular job, can I—would you care if I came calling at your house?'"

His words were so nearly like those used by Stewart Bodey the day before that she laughed.

Smith was angry at once. "You needn't cackle," he protested.

"Oh, Elbert—" It was the first time she had addressed him by his first name—"I wasn't laughing at you. It was something I just remembered that made me laugh."

"Oh," he said, mollified. "I thought you were giving me the razz. Can I come—if I don't go to jail?"

"I'm always glad to see my friends," she said, evasively.

All right, I'll tell you something that I didn't tell before, because I was mad at everybody when we came back from that shed. I saw it when we first came in, and kicked it in a corner."

"What do you mean?"

"Something funny happened here, while we were gone. You know, ma only had one pair of shoes. Look here."

With his head he indicated the corner behind his chair. "I kicked it there without Bodey seeing me."

Nadine stooped over his shoulder. In the corner was one of Mrs. Smith's high-heeled, nearly-worn-out shoes.

"Something happened to her," Smith declared.

CHAPTER I

Nadine ran to the stairway and called to Bodey. He came, and picked up the shoe.

"It's Irene's all right," he said. "So she didn't go away from here voluntarily. He clicked his thumb nail on his teeth, reflectively. "The sheriff's deputies may have taken her, but they're in the clink should they? Some of her husband's old cronies may have carried her off—but how would they know she was here?"

"What shall we do?" Nadine asked.

"Nothing," said he. "It's the safest rule in life, Miss Rollins: when you don't know what in blazes to do, don't do anything!" He regarded young Smith for a moment. "Your mother didn't give you an inkling did she that someone was coming to see her?"

"Naw," said the boy.

"Hain't been writing letters to anyone, telling where she was?"

"Naw," he said again.

"It certainly beats the Dutch," said Bodey. "The officers came, I suppose. But all they found was a lone woman, and likely she told them she lived here. They weren't sure my brother ever actually got to this place. Why would they arrest Irene?"

Nadine was cooking the buckwheat cakes that had been in preparation, and the first batch of them was ready.

"Will you start on these three?" she inquired of Bodey.

"No—let Smith eat. I'll untie his hands. I want to worry over Irene some more, before I eat. Feed Smith, and then Pierce. When they're full, I'll take some cakes up to Stewart, and I'll eat last."

"Aren't you going to let me eat?" asked the girl.

"Why," said Bodey, "I was figuring that by eating last, I could eat with you."

Nadine smiled as she set out the cakes and butter and syrup for Smith, while Bodey untied the things that held the boys' wrists.

"To the upper floor where Stewart Bodey lay."

"See?" said Smith, as soon as he and Nadine were alone. "He's mished on you."

"What makes you think so?" she asked, laughing.

"Because he was fixing to eat with you. Ma don't like to eat with women unless they're stuck on 'em—they talk so much. That's what my old man always said."

The girl was inclined to pursue the subject further, but Pierce now came to the door and stared hungrily at the display of cakes.

"Come in and sit down—I can cook them fast enough for both of you," Nadine invited.

Pierce accepted. Shortly afterward Bodey returned, and the four gossiped and ate alternately. Smith was moved to playfulness, and dropped heavy jests concerning the supposed attachment of Pierce and Bodey for Nadine. The man listened with amusement.

"What's your mind, son?" he asked, after the boy had favored them with three or four all references to the state of their affections.

"Why, I ain't so dumb," said Smith. "Don't you suppose I see you fellows, and Stewart Bodey, fixing up a grin on your faces every time you come near this girl?"

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and One Leg

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate
(By Howard R. Garis)

Many voices were whispering amid the reeds, willows and wild rushes on the banks of the duck pond. Now and then the reeds would move as though the wind blew them, but there was no wind. And the voices that whispered were scarcely louder than the evening breeze.

"Do you think Uncle Wiggily will make Long Legs go away?" softly croaked Bully No Tail of his father, who was hiding under a broad, green, lily flower leaf.

"I hope so," answered Mr. No Tail. "Keep back, Squakee! Keep back!"

back!" murmured Jillic Longtail to the cousin mouse who peered out from a bunch of grass where she was hiding. "Do you want the whole of your tail nipped off next time in the Blue Heron's beak?"

"I thought that long-legged bird was going away?" squeaked the tiny cousin mouse, switching around her tail so she could look at the end where the Blue Heron had nipped off a piece in trying to stab the little mouse herself with his sharp beak.

"Leave that to Uncle Wiggily," croaked Bully No Tail. "I think he is coming now with that funny frog he made out of rubber plant leaves. Yes, here he comes!"

The whispering stopped and all was quiet amid the rushes and reeds on the swampy edge of the duck pond. The rabbit gentleman, who has promised to play a trick on Long Legs and drive the Blue Heron away, was now ready. The sun was setting. Soon it would be dark.

"Are you all here?" softly asked the rabbit gentleman as he reached the place where many of his friends were hiding to watch him play his trick. "Are you all here?" He could see none of them, so well hidden were they amid the rushes and bushes.

"All here!" softly croaked Mr. No Tail. "Do you need any help?"

"Well," said the rabbit gentleman as he set in the water the large, make-believe, rubber frog. "If some one would take a look to see if Long Legs is on the edge of the marsh, I would push this trick frog out so it would float past him. The Blue Heron himself will do the rest."

"I'll hop out and look," offered the bulfrog gentleman. Very carefully he hopped out where he could look down the pond, toward the end where it was marshy, swampy and boggy. And then, all of a sudden, Mr. No Tail came hopping back where Uncle Wiggily waited with the rubber frog.

"Long Legs isn't there!" croaked Bully's father. "But One Leg is there. I saw him plainly!"

"One Leg!" exclaimed the rabbit. "What do you mean?"

"Well, I see a bird with only one leg," croaked the Frog.

"Maybe the Blue Heron's wife has come, and then there will be two hungry birds to try to catch us instead of one," said the tadpole.

But just then Mr. Caw Caw, the black crow gentleman, flew overhead. He knew about the trick Uncle Wiggily was going to play, and said:

"One Leg and Long Legs are both the same bird. The Heron sometimes stands on one leg to rest the other. Go ahead. Trick him! He is there!"

Then Uncle Wiggily pushed the tough, rubber frog out into the pond.

It drifted down and down until it was floating past where the Blue Heron was standing on one leg, wondering where his supper was coming from.

"But I need wonder no longer!" croaked the big bird. "Here is a fat frog for me to eat!" Without stopping to look closely, which, if he had done, might have showed him the frog was made of rubber plant leaves, the Blue Heron darted his long, sharp beak deep into it. All the way through the rubber frog went the Heron's bill and there it stuck. The rubber frog made by Uncle Wiggily held the bill of the bird tightly closed.

Doing his best to croak, and trying to say how angry he was at the trick played on him, One Leg suddenly became Two Legs, and, with a flap of his wings up he rose in the air, the rubber frog still fast on his sharp beak.

"Hurray! Hurray!" joyfully cried the hidden frogs, mice, toads and fishes as they saw their enemy fly away. "We hope he never comes back!" And the Blue Heron was so ashamed of being tricked by a rabbit and a rubber frog that he never flew back to that part of the country. Many thanks were given Mr. Longears for being so clever. And if the baked potato doesn't jump out of the oven and try to go swimming in the milk pitcher, I'll tell you on Friday about Uncle Wiggily and Possum Pinktoes.

Jack Lockwill's Speedboat

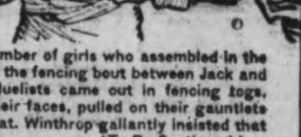

By GILBERT PATTEN

Having a sense of humor, the Grand Vizier went about the affair as if it were to be a duel with swords. Publicly handing Jack his card, he informed him that he would be visited by his second. When the second came to Lockwill's room in the Hampton House, the freshman politely turned him over to Willie Darling. "Mr. Darling is my second, sir," said Jack. So the two seconds conferred together.

Then he took a fine saw-bladed file from his pocket and got to work on one of the button-tipped foils. A faint noise caused him to close the locker hastily, snap out the light and sneak out of the gym.

Betty Darling was one of a number of girls who assembled in the gym the following day to witness the fencing bout between Jack and the Grand Vizier. The young duellists came out in fencing togs, donned wire masks to protect their faces, pulled on their gauntlets and stepped forward on to the mat. Winthrop gallantly insisted that Jack should choose his weapon.

(To Be Continued.)

That night the Bad Egg stole out of his room and entered the gym by using a skeleton key. Turning on one light in the locker room, he forced open the locker in which Winthrop kept his foils.

Treatment Is Simple and Results Are Vouched for in Letters Such as This:

Dear Sir:
I want you to know that I am almost normal in health since I took up your treatment with the I-ON-A-CO Belt. The last ailments were piles and anemia. The last due to severe and constant hemorrhages, and my nerves went all to pieces from the terrible pain which never left me of late years.
I am sixty-six, but now feel like forty—sleeping soundly, eating well and enjoying life. Thanking you most sincerely, and also your kind nurses.

CHILDREN DISPLAY AMAZING ABILITY

Show Quick Absorption of Learning by Demonstration Yesterday

Summer School Watches Interesting Programme by Own Pupils

Showing progress which demonstration classes of the Victoria Summer School have made during the last few weeks, a remarkable programme was furnished an interested audience by 250 children of the institution yesterday afternoon. The programme consisted of dances, singing, action songs, playlets and pianoforte work given at the Victoria High School. Although they had only a short five weeks under their present instructors the children showed amazing powers of absorption. The programme was divided into two parts. The first was in the gymnasium, where the children went through their various dance numbers in turn. The children then joined in marches, the final achievement being a grand tableau.

The dance of the robbers and the fairies, the gipsy dance, as well as Highland steps, were loudly applauded by an appreciative audience. In the second part of the programme, in the auditorium, the children of Miss Edie's, Miss McKay's, Miss Reid's, Miss Holden's, Mr. Stubb's and Mr. McLeary's classes were represented. Mr. Hall's children presented a League of Nations playlet. The children of Mr. Stubb's room entered into an historic playlet of the days of the Cariboo gold rush, demonstrating a novel method of teaching history.

The children of Miss Holden's class entered into the spirit of the "Barbers' Song."

A Punch and Judy show furnished a deal of fun for the audience. Miss Edie's class gave a pretty little act, "Buy My Strawberries," when twenty tiny little maids with strawberry blossom hats gave their version of the old London vendors' cry. Mrs. Macrae used two of his little pupils to demonstrate his teaching of the piano by the class method. "Humanity Set Free" was the title of the playlet presented by the students. Other numbers in the programme included the singing of folk songs.

He asked that those who attended and enjoyed the Esquimalt picnic be sure to go to the Victoria Conservatives' outing on August 19.

C. H.
